Hons. B. H. Marbury, O. L. Munger and J. H. Keith will address the voters at Des Arc, Saturday afternoon, October 21st; at Annapolis that night at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

A. F. Neely was shot and killed by his son-in-law, Elmer Tucker, at Bismarck last Thursday night. Neely had mistreated his daughter, who is Tucker's wife. Tucker is a barber and formerly lived at Des Arc.

Our young friend, Mr. I. E. Whitworth, has been quite ill the past week. It is thought his condition is due to his having hurt himself in moving a heavy stove at the store. We hope to announce an early improvement.

All the cases in the circuit court wherein property owners are asking for more money for right-of-way for the State Highway, south of Ironton, than allowed by the Commissioners, were continued until the April term of court.

Work on the new hotel building, near the station, seems to have been discontinued altogether. Not for several weeks has there been any work done on the uncompleted structure. Two or three creditors, it is said, have filed liens on the building.

Miss Florence G. Love, who has spent the past few weeks here with her mother, Mrs. R. C. Love, left Monday for New York City, to resume her studies in Columbia University, where she has been a student for the past year.—Flat River News.

The re-organized Bank of Ironton opened for business Monday with W. C. Mabrey as cashier and Jos. C. Forshes, assistant. Elmer Newman is no longer connected with the institution. It is reported that the deposits the first day were in excess of the withdrawals.

W. H. Clements, of Reynolds county, who has been in Ironton the past two or three months, has purchased the home of Mrs. Clara G. Delano in Russellville and will make his home there. There are ten acres in the tract and the price paid is said to have been $3,000.

They will probably be gone ten days.—Eminence Current Wave.

Poplar Bluff Citizen-Democrat: "P. H. Cureton has closed a deal with J. W. Carille for the purchase of his store on Bartlett street. An inventory of the stock is now being taken preparatory to Mr. Cureton taking active charge. The store will be known as the Cureton Store Company. A general line of groceries and merchandise will be handled. Just what line of business Mr. Carille will go into has not been announced."

The marriage of Miss Nora Wilder Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, of Ironton, and Arthur Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, of Ironton, took place Sunday, October 8th, 1922, at 3 o'clock P. M., at the home of the bride's parents. Brother Moyer of the Stout's Creek Baptist Church performed the ceremony, at which only members of the two families and a few intimate friends were present.

The following is from the Hornersville correspondence in the Kennett News: "Mrs. A. J. Langdon, Sr., went to Paragould Monday to be at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Langdon, Jr., who is at the Dickson Memorial. Mrs. Langdon has undergone three operations in the past two weeks. While her condition has been serious, at this writing she is much better. Her many friends hope and pray that she may soon recover and return to her loved ones."

Mr. T. A. Goodman received by express last Wednesday night from Wisconsin a very valuable Guernsey cow for which he paid $5,000.00. It is probably the highest priced animal of the kind ever brought to this section of the state and adds much to the extraordinary collection of fine milch cows that Mr. Goodman has assembled at "Morningthorpe Farm." A caretaker accompanied the cow from Wisconsin here. It is necessary to milk her four times a day.

T. A. Goodman received two very high grade, high-priced cows by express on train No. 17 last Wednesday night. The cows came in crates, were unloaded at the station about midnight and put on a wagon to be taken out to "Morningthorpe Farm." The crates stood up too high on the wagon to pass under the railroad bridge across Stout's creek and when the crates struck the bridge, the team took fright and ran away. Both cows fell from the wagon into the creek but suffered no great injury and were taken out on to the farm.

The National Guards who have been stationed in Poplar Bluff for the last three months for the protection of railroad property were withdrawn this week by order of Adjutant General Baupp, a large number of the officers and men taking their departure Tuesday afternoon while others left Wednesday. Those recently stationed here were almost all Southeast Missouri boys and too much cannot be said in praise of their exemplary conduct while here. It may be said without exaggeration that they won the admiration of all by their soldierly bearing, attending strictly to the line of duty assigned them at all times.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

The Southern Convocation of the Diocese of Missouri will hold a three days' session in St. Paul's church, Ironton, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 24th, 25th and 26th. Bishops Tuttle and Johnson, as well as many other prominent members of the Episcopal clergy, will be in attendance. A most interesting program has been arranged for the occasion and a dozen or more of the clergy and several prominent laymen are expected to be here and participate. A feature of the convocation will be a reception at "Valley Home," Arcadia, Wednesday afternoon, 4:30 o'clock, to the visitors and members of St. Paul's congregation.

Ten years or more ago, Gus O. Nations, Chief Prohibition Enforcement Officer in St. Louis, was for a short time in charge of the Arcadia Valley Enterprise in Ironton. This is from last Wednesday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "The trouble with a whipper-snapper like him is that when you invest him with a bit of authority and stick a feather in his cap he will strut himself to death." This was Federal Judge Dyer's retort when informed that Gus O. Nations, Chief Prohibition Enforcement Agent in St. Louis, had criticised the proceeding in the Federal Court yesterday when 38 persons charged with violating the Volstead law pleaded guilty and were assessed fines aggregating $7400."

Farmington News: "W. T. Gay and J. L. Baldwin, of Ironton, who were in Farmington Wednesday, told the news that the Bank of Ironton, which recently was closed when it became known that the cashier had loaned to one man more than $80,000 of the bank's funds without the knowledge of anyone else connected with the bank, would re-open next Monday. Mr. Gay is president of the bank. He is one of Iron-county's finest men and he is to be commended for his untiring efforts to save the bank despite the terrible loss due to a trusted employee's faithlessness. The new cashier is to be Will Mabrey, who has been cashier of a bank at Doniphan and has had much successful experience in banking."

J. S. Campbell, whose wife and two children were killed in the recent railroad wreck at Sulphur Springs, was in Poplar Bluff the latter part of the week and stated that he had effected a settlement with the Missouri Pacific without going into court. In the settlement, Mr. Campbell received something more than $18,000. By this settlement Mr. Campbell, as he explains, receives several thousand dollars more than he would have received had he gone into court with an attorney on a 50-50 basis, for the reason that $10,000 is the maximum under the law for the death of an individual. Mr. Campbell himself has been a railroad employe for several years and was loath to institute suit, believing that the matter could be adjusted without this formality.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

The closed season on wood ducks which has been in effect since 1918 under the provisions of the migratory bird law, will continue during the hunting season this fall, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. These birds must not be killed anywhere in the United States. The wood duck, or summer duck, as it is commonly known in many localities, is one of the most beautiful of nature game birds, and breeds practically throughout the entire United States. Formerly it was threatened with extinction, but under the protection afforded by the federal migratory bird treaty act during the past few years its numbers are beginning to show an increase. Eider ducks and swans also are protected throughout the year.

Charles E. Sutton died in the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, St. Louis, Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock. About two weeks ago while working at his trade as a carpenter at the convent in Arcadia he ran a nail in his foot. He was brought to Ironton, the injury treated, and after about a week returned to work, the wound having apparently healed. But that day about noon there was evidence of tetanus and Mr. Sutton was taken to St. Louis that evening (Wednesday). The physicians there were unable to give him relief and he died Sunday. The deceased was aged 42 years, 8 months and 19 days. He is survived by a widow and several children who have much sympathy in their bereavement. The remains were brought to Ironton Monday and the funeral held from the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, interment being made in the K. P. cemetery. Peace to his ashes!

"Cameron of the Royal Mounted"

From Ralph Connor's Stirring Story

With Gaston Glass, Vivian Osborne and Irving Cummings

A vitally interesting story laid in Old Mexico which deals with a young mining engineer who discovers a rich vein of copper on his claim; an unscrupulous railroad magnate who tries to gain control of it; and a charming and beautiful girl who plots with the hero to their mutual satisfaction against the villain.

Home-ties broken, fate threatening to wrest from him the honor and position he had fought for in this land of untrammelled wastes, but through it all his love for the girl remained unshaken, sustaining him in his glorious fight for justice and vengeance.

He fought the good fight and won—won against odds that had sent stronger men crushed and broken back to the cities from whence they came—won and gained happiness because the girl stood by him and urged him on.

"Cameron of the Royal Mounted" is a story that will hold you breathless with suspense, thrill you with its hidden dangers and charm you with its wistful romance.
